Free Amino Acids with

Magnesium & l-Carnitine

System: Structural

-- Protein building blocks to help develop, build and maintain solid muscle

PrimeForm Free Amino Acids with Magnesium & l-Carnitine is for individuals involved in strength and endurance training, especially for times of physical activity, stress and recovery. Amino acids are building blocks of protein that help develop, build and maintain solid muscle tissue. Twenty-two amino acids are necessary for the body to function, 14 of which the body manufactures. The other eight essential amino acids must be supplied in the diet.

The eight essential amino acids in this product are formulated to meet the Food and Agricultural Organization/World Health Organization (FAO/WHO) amino acid pattern that helps ensure the most efficient use of amino acids by the human body. Combine this amino acid formula with physical activity and good nutrition to develop muscle strength and endurance. l-Carnitine helps transport fats into the mitochondria where they are burned for energy, and magnesium helps activate enzymes necessary for carbohydrate and amino acid metabolism.

Whether you're an athlete, body builder, physically active or simply need amino acid supplements, this formulation of Free Amino Acids helps support your workout program for muscle tissue, mass and density.

Typical analysis of amino acids per two-tablet serving:

Ingredients mg per two tablets:
